

'Gaming in Color' now available on Steam

MidBoss Games documentary about the culture of gaming as it relates to the LGBTQ+ community, Gaming in Color is officially available for purchase on Steam. Distributed through Devolver Digital Films, the documentary is also available on iTunes, Amazon, Google Play, PlayStation, Xbox, Vudu, VHX, Gumroad, and Vimeo. The film will be available for a limited time for a 33 percent discount as well - for $4.01.

Created in the time period between the GaymerX 1 and 2 events, the film focuses on "the issue of representation in the world of gaming but also on why such representation matters and what effect it has on gamers from all walks of life."

MidBoss Games has also launched a new trailer for the film (to your left) and a new website for it here.

In case you didn't know, MidBoss Games is the creator of the upcoming point-and-click adventure game Read Only Memories, and organizers of the GaymerX LGBTQ+ friendly gaming and culture events. This year's event, GX3: Everyone Games, will take place December 11-13, 2015 at the San Jose Marriott, in downtown San Jose. For more information on that, check out www.gaymerx.com.